○ NICOLAE ILIESCU

Files of the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), Boston, Massachusetts, as checked on November 19, 1973, contained the information set forth below concerning Nicolae Iliescu. INS File A8 214 807:

Subject was born May 21, 1919, at Constantinessti, Romania. His father is listed as Marin and his mother as Julia, nee Lupescu. He served as an officer-cadet in the Romanian Army from 1941 to 1944 and had been interned in a Nazi prison camp from 1944 to 1945. He attended the University of Bucharest, Romania, from 1938 to 1941 and the University of Padova, Italy, from 1945 to 1947, where he received a Ph.D. in Italian literature. He also attended the School of Fine Arts, Padova, Italy, from 1950 to 1952.

He entered the United States as a Displaced Person under Section 2c of the Immigration Act, June 25, 1948, as amended; and he arrived at New York via ship on January 11, 1952. His sponsor was listed as the Church World Service, AG, Methodist Committee, New York City.

Subject received a re-entry permit from INS on July 26, 1961, at which time his address was 23 Irving Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts. His proposed departure was from New York on August 24, 1961, for a period of one year to visit Italy, West Germany, France, England, Switzerland, and Spain. His occupation was listed as professor at Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts. From January, 1952, to December, 1952, he was editor of a Romanian weekly newspaper "Solia," published at Cleveland, Ohio. Subject returned to the United States on August 29, 1962, at New York.
